DRATE: Assigned Rate vs Actual Rate

- D-rating is defined as the assignment of personnel in a “distribution rating” that is not the same as the actual or prospective rating, e.g., assigning an EN to a MA billet.
- D-rating results in inventory inaccuracy, leading to false projections.
- D-rating will normally be authorized only after all other avenues have been exhausted and only with written authorization from the Manning Control Authority.

PRD Management

PRD's / EDLN's generate requisitions!

- If a member separates at a EAOS of 0401, but had a PRD of 0407, the command gaps the billet for 6 months.
- HYT's should generate an EDLN, but you should still adjust PRD's to HYT dates.
